Қайта тайёрлаш ва малака ошириш тингловчилари курс давомида турли соҳаларда далилларга асосланган мураккаб бўлмаган матнларни ўқиб тўлиқ тушуниш, кундалик ва йўналиш соҳасига оид Интернет сайтларидан тегишли маълумотларни топиш ва тушуниш, рисоалар, рекламалар, газета эълонларидан мутахассисликка оид маълумотларни топиш, ОАВ матнларининг ўқиб асосий мазмунини тушуниш каби топшириқларни бажарадилар. Шунингдек, тингловчилар тинглаб тушуниш, гапириш, ўқиш кўникмаларига ёзиш тил кўникмасини интеграллаштирган ҳолда ўз суҳбатдошига хат ва хабарлар ёзиш, анкетани турли шахсий маълумотлар билан тўлдириш, шахсий ҳамда касб-ҳунарга оид контекстларда қайдлар ва хабарлар ёзиш, соҳага оид ҳисоботлар ёзиш, ариза, резюме ва йўлланма хатлар ёзиш каби вазифаларни ҳам бажарадилар.

II. МОДУЛНИ ЎҚИТИШДА ФЙДАЛАНИЛАДИГАН ИНТЕРФАОЛ ТАЪЛИМ МЕТОДЛАРИ

Ажурли арра методи

Ажур французча «ажоур» сўздан олинган бўлиб, «бир ёқдан иккинчи ёққа ўтган, икки томони очиқ» деган маънони англатади.

Бу методдан фойдаланиш қуйидаги босқичларда амалга оширилади:

-тингловчилардан 4-5 кишилик кичик гуруҳлар ташкил этилади
-тингловчиларга бериладиган топшириқ ва уларни бажаришда фойдаланиладиган матнли материаллар бир нечта асосий қисмлар (масалан, режа асосида бир нечта мавзучалар)га қирқилади;

-мавзучалар ва уларга доир матнли материаллар пакети кичик гуруҳларнинг ҳар бир аъзосига тарқатилади;

-кичик гуруҳ аъзолари матнли материаллардан фойдаланиб топшириқни бажаришга киришадилар;

-кичик гуруҳларнинг яхши ўзлаштирувчи аъзоларидан эксперт гуруҳи ташкил этилади;

-эксперт гуруҳи аъзолари кўлларидаги топшириқларни ҳамкорликда муҳокама қилишиб, бошқаларга ўргатиш режасини эгаллашадилар;

-экспертлар ўзларининг дастлабки кичик гуруҳларига қайтишиб ўрганганларини бошқа шерикларига ўргатишади.

Ўқитишга бундай ёндашилганда тингловчиларнинг ҳамкорликда ишлашларига ва катта ҳажмдаги ўқув материалларининг ўзлаштирилишига эришилади.

Бу методдан фойдаланувчи педагог тингловчиларга тақдим этилган топшириқни бажаришга доир материалларни кунт билан ўрганишни, биргаликда муҳокама этишни, савол-жавоб қилишни, ўрганганларини бошқаларга ўргатишлари зарурлигини олдиндан айтади.

Синектика методи

Бу метод амалий, семинарлар ва лаборатория машғулоти учун қулай бўлиб, «ақлий ҳужум» методига яқин. Бунда тингловчи дарсда қўйилган муаммони ҳал қилиш юзасидан аналогияга асосланган ҳолда ўз фикрларини, қарашларини олға суради. Бунда аналогия бевосита, шахсий, рамзий ва хаёлий бўлиши мумкин.

Думалоқ стол методи

Бу метод амалий машғулоти учун қулай. Бунда ўқитувчи томонидан битта савол ёзилган варақ кичик гуруҳга тақдим этилади. Тингловчилар ўзларининг исми-шарифлари ва саволга жавобларини ёзиб, варақни ёнидаги тингловчига узатади. Шу тариқа ёзилган жавоблар йиғиштириб олиниб, тингловчилар иштирокида нотўғрилари ўчириб чиқилади ва натижалар баҳоланади.

Ручка стол устида методи

Бу метод амалий машғулоти учун қулай. Саволга ўзининг жавоб вариантини ёзган кичик гуруҳдаги тингловчи ручкасини стол устига қўйиб варақни ёнидаги шеригига узатади. Саволга жавоб ёза олмаган тингловчи ручкасини столга қўймайди. Бир нечта кичик гуруҳлардаги тингловчиларнинг қўйилган бир хил саволга жавоблари йиғиштириб олиниб биргаликда муҳокама қилинади. Бу методнинг афзалликлари: ўқитувчи машғулоти ким тайёр, ким тайёр эмаслигини кўриб туради; машғулоти тайёрланмаган тингловчи оғзаки муҳокама пайтида кўриб чиқилаётган мавзу юзасидан анчагина фойдали билимлар олади; бу метод кичик гуруҳда олиб бориладиган иш бўлиб, тингловчи интизомини мустаҳкамлайди ва уларни жипслаштиради, чунки ўзининг жавоб варианты устида узоқ ўйлаб ўтирадиган тингловчи бутун гуруҳга ажратилган вақтни сарфлаб юборади. Шунингдек тингловчи машғулотга тайёр бўлмаса, бунда ҳам гуруҳга панд беради; тингловчилар ўз жавобларини икки марта, яъни ёзма иш пайтида ва оғзаки муҳокама вақтида таҳлил қилиб чиқишади.

Ротация методи

Бу метод машғулот мавзуини ҳар бир кичик гуруҳ алоҳида-алоҳида муҳокама қилиб чиқиши, ёзганларини бутун гуруҳ жамоа бўлиб таҳлил қилиб кўриши учун қўлланилади ва қуйидаги босқичларда амалга оширилади:

-дарс мавзуси бўйича номерланган топшириқлар (масалан, режадаги мавзучалар) плакатларга ёзилиб доскага осиб қўйилади;

-топшириқлар сони учта бўлса, тингловчилар ҳам шунча кичик гуруҳларга ажратилади ва гуруҳчалар номерланади;

-кичик гуруҳлар ўзларининг номерларига мос номердаги топшириқни ва уни бажаришда фойдаланиладиган ёзма маълумотлар пакетини олади;

-кичик гуруҳлар ўзларига тақдим этилган материалларни ҳамкорликда ўрганишиб топшириққа жавобларини ёзишади;

-жавоблар кичик гуруҳдаги хуснихати чиройли бир тингловчи томонидан ёзилади;

-топшириқларга ёзилган жавоблар варағи, маълумотлар пакети кичик гуруҳлараро алмаштирилади ва қўшимчалар қилинади, бироқ жавобларнинг такрорланишига йўл қўйилмайди;

-жавоблар қайси кичик гуруҳники эканлиги ажралиб туриши учун уларга ҳар хил рангдаги фламастерлардан фойдаланиш тавсия этилади. Шунингдек кичик гуруҳлар номерланиб, улар ўзларининг жавобларини шу номер остида ёзишлари ҳам мумкин;

-жавоблар ёзилган варақлар доскадаги осифлиқ плакатларга скочда ёпиштирилиб, ўқитувчи иштирокида муҳокама қилинади, умумлаштирилади ва тўғри жавоблар дафтарларга ёзиб олинади;

-тўғри ва мукамал жавоблар сонига қараб тингловчилар рағбатлантирилади ва баҳоланади.

Галереяни айланиш методи

Кичик гуруҳларнинг барча аъзоларига битта муаммо таклиф этилади. Ҳар бир кичик гуруҳ ўзларига берилган муаммога белгиланган вақт ичида фикрларини ёзиб, жавоблари ёзилган варақларини бошқа гуруҳ билан алмаштиради. Жавобларни олган гуруҳ уларни баҳолайди ва тугал бўлмаса ўз вариантлари билан тўлдиради. Сўнгра гуруҳлар фикрлари умумлаштирилиб, энг юқори баллга арзийдиган тўғри ва мукамал жавоблар танлаб олинади.

Қор бўрон методи

Иккига ажратилган гуруҳ тингловчилари бир муаммо юзасидан энг кўп тўғри жавоблар топиш мақсадида биргаликда муҳокама юритишади. Ҳар бир тўғри жавоб юмалоқланган қор кўринишида ўша гуруҳ ҳисобига ёзиб қўйилади; тўпланган умумий баллар миқдори асосида гуруҳлар баҳоланади.

Асалари галаси методи

Муаммо битта гуруҳда ёки икки кичик гуруҳларда муҳокама қилинади. Бунда топшириқлар ҳар хил ёки бутун гуруҳга битта бўлиши мумкин. Гуруҳлар қўйилган муаммони маълум муддат муҳокама этиб, натижани бошқаларга маълум қилишади. Муаммо ечимининг энг яхши варианты танлаб олинади.

Думаловчи қор уюми методи

Думаловчи қор уюми методи ўқув машғулотини ўтказиш методининг рамзий номи бўлиб, иш қўйилган муаммо устида мулоҳаза юритиб кўриш учун тингловчиларга вақт, тегишли манбалар, тарқатма материаллар беришдан бошланади. Бу метод гуруҳнинг ҳар бир аъзосига бутун гуруҳнинг билимлари ва тажрибаларидан фойдаланиб, ўзининг кенг қамровли нуқтаи назарини баён этишни назарда тутаяди. Бунинг учун тингловчилар 4 та кичик гуруҳларга ажратилади. Муҳокама қилиб чиқиш учун барча гуруҳларга битта топшириқ берилади. Ҳар бир кичик гуруҳ топшириқ устида алоҳида ишлайди. Сўнгра биринчи билан иккинчи ва учинчи билан тўртинчи гуруҳлар муаммо устида биргаликда муҳокама юритишади. Охир оқибатда барча кичик гуруҳлар бирлашиб, бутун яхлит гуруҳ бўлиб қўйилган муаммо ечимини ҳал этишнинг турли йўллари, вариантларини муҳокама қилишади. Бундай муҳокама жараёнида тингловчиларнинг қўйилган муаммо юзасидан билимлари чуқурлашиб, ойдинлашиб, бойиб, кенгқамровли бўлиб боради.

Синдикат методи

Гуруҳ учта кичик гуруҳларга бўлинади. Бунда таклиф этилаётган топшириқ уч хил нуқтаи назардан ҳал этилиш зарур. Масалан, уч ноъмалумли учта тенгламалар системасини ечиш топшириғи берилган бўлсин, у ҳолда биринчи гуруҳ масалани Гаусс, иккинчи гуруҳ Крамер, учинчи гуруҳ матрица усулидан фойдаланиб ечади. Сўнгра ечимлар биргаликда муҳокама этилиб, умумлаштирилади.

Аквариум методи

Гуруҳдан уч тингловчи ажратиб олиниб уларга хона ўртасидаги стол атрофида ўтиришлари ва қўйилган муаммони ўн минут атрофида биргаликда муҳокама, қилишиб фикр билдиришлари сўралади. Бу уч тингловчи аквариумдаги балиқларга қиёс. Атрофда ўтирган кузатувчилар ўртадаги тингловчиларнинг фикрларини диққат билан тинглаб, жавобларни тўғри ва нотўғрига ажратиб ёзиб боришади ҳамда муҳокама пайтида ўзларининг қарашларини баён этишади. Етарли даражада фикр билдира олмаган ўртадаги тингловчилар ўз ўринларини кучли фикр билдирган кузатувчи тингловчиларга бўшатиб беришади. Ҳар бир муаммо юзасидан билдирилган фикрлар тингловчилар иштирокида ўқитувчи томонидан умумлаштирилади.

Рақамли методлар

Гуруҳдаги тингловчиларнинг умумий сонидан келиб чиққан ҳолда 4x4x4, 5x5x5 ёки 6x6x6 методларининг биридан фойдаланилади. Масалан, 5x5x5 методида ҳар бири 5 тингловчидан иборат 5 та кичик гуруҳчалар ташкил этилиб, уларнинг 5 нафар сардорлари тўпланишиб қўйилган муаммони ҳамкорликда муҳокама этишади, сўнгра ўзларининг гуруҳларига қайтишиб шерикларига масаланинг ечимини ўргатишади.

1-мавзу: Role-Playing Adventure

A role-playing adventure (RPA) is a game-like, problem-solving set of activities that culminates with the accomplishment of a mission or objective. RPAs are task-based activities in which participants use the target language to reach proposed goals by tapping into all the language resources available to them. Although the main focus is on speaking, an RPA is an integrated-skills activity because participants end up using all four language skills (speaking, listening, reading, and writing).

What Is a Role-Playing Adventure?

In RPAs, participants are players, and their main objective is to come up with ideas to overcome several hurdles as they try to accomplish their mission. The teacher takes on the role of game-master. As game-master, the teacher controls the development of the story and rolls the dice, determining whether solutions presented by participants will be effective in overcoming obstacles. The teacher's focus is on observing and helping participants use and/or learn language they need to reach these goals.

Behind each RPA there is a storyline that provides participants with an objective and teachers with a framework for steering participants in the direction they want. In this article, we will use the beginning of one of our RPA storylines ("Derailed Train") as an example of how teachers can develop activities.

Role-Playing Adventure: Derailed Train

In this RPA storyline, participants are involved in a train accident. They will need to survive the accident, help other passengers, and catch a terrorist. To use this activity with different levels and ages, simply adapt the storyline and picture cards for suitability. Due to space limitations, we will present here only the scenario where they need to survive the accident.

What You Need

For this RPA, you will need:

- one or two 6-sided dice
- picture cards for the following objects: an ice pack, saw, sling, car jack, bandages, blood pressure gauge, blanket, crowbar, pain-killer, alcohol, plier, gun, hammer, a mirror, adhesive tape, tweezers, a stretcher, nails, gloves, scissors, stretcher, soldering iron, lighter, rope, screwdriver, thermometer, ladder, insulating tape, crutches, vodka, shovel, wheelchair, power drill, diapers, wire, and sleeping bag. (Make sure you have enough cards for each participant to have one.)

Step 1

Begin the RPA by telling participants they will participate in a very exciting adventure. Place the picture cards on a table and have each participant choose one item and then have them explain why they have chosen it. Encourage them to come up with as many possible uses for their object as they can.

Step 2

After participants have chosen their items, ask if they have travelled by train before. What kind of train was it? Did they enjoy the trip? What did they notice in their passenger cars?

Step 3

Tell them that they are on a train moving across the countryside. Ask participants to describe their passenger car. You could also have them draw the layout of the train and present it.

Step 4

Say (use your own words): You see a very strange, suspicious-looking man. What does he look like? What is he doing? Why does he look suspicious?

Together as a group, have participants describe this man. Make sure to ask them if they notice any special features such as a scar or a tattoo.

Step 5

Say: The suspicious-looking man gets up and leaves your car. Suddenly, you hear a loud screech and a really loud noise! The train starts bumping like crazy! What do you do?

With the whole group, discuss their answers.

Step 6

Say: When the train finally stops, you look around. You are all safe. You are the only ones in the passenger car. You try to get out, but the doors are stuck. You look out and you see water! There is water coming in from all sides! You need to get out as quickly as you can or you will all die! How are you going to get out? Which tools could you use? Is there an emergency exit?

Ask the participants to suggest a plan. Review the items they have.

Step 7

As the participants suggest their plans, roll the dice. Tell them the dice will decide what their odds are. For example, if participants say they are going to use the crowbar to open the door, tell them that the plan will only be successful if they get a 6. If they don't get a 6, ask them to improve their plan by adding something else (we will break a window), and roll the dice again. (If you get 5 or 6, your plan will be successful.) And so on. As they improve their plan, improve the odds. (Set the odds however you like; you can change them to make the groups go back to the drawing board and think of other solutions to the task, or just to add more fun to the activity.)

When they present a successful plan, challenge them again by saying, for example: When you open the door (or break the windows), water will gush in. How can you make sure you don't get pushed back in by the force of the water?

They will eventually be successful with this task. Be prepared for a lot of cheering on the part of the participants.

Other Possible Scenarios for the Derailed Train RPA

- Participants rescue injured passengers in other passenger cars.
- Participants conduct first aid on injured passengers.
- Participants describe their surroundings (e.g., if there are abandoned houses nearby, farms, a river, a road, a gas station, etc.).
- Police arrive and participants describe a suspicious man.
- Participants help police locate suspicious man.

Tips for Successful RPAs

Here are some ideas that have worked for us when using RPAs:

- Begin the RPA by inviting your participants to create a new personality for themselves—a second identity. Ask them questions to help them create their identity. (E.g., Where are you from? Where do you live? Do you have any special skills?) This will allow them to be more inventive and give themselves various abilities and skills. Have them introduce their new identity to their classmates.
- Do one task per class. This way, teachers can invite participants to retell what happened during the preceding class and revisit the new vocabulary and/or structures that came up. In our school, we have three 1-hour classes per week, and we use the RPA for 10 to 15 minutes at the end of the class. The RPAs usually take 2 to 3 months to finish.
- You may ask your participants keep a journal of the adventure. You may also develop a dictionary, with participants contributing definitions, sample sentences, drawings, and so forth.
- Depending on your participants' level of English, a task may take more time. You will need to give them more time to prepare for each task and provide more support through recast and help with vocabulary.
- There are several situations where you might invite a speaker (e.g., to talk about first-aid) or ask a participant to research a topic and give a presentation (e.g., how to make an SOS sign using smoke). You can also use short texts to complement a topic (e.g., a text on Morse code and the SOS sign).
- Dice, aside from determining the outcome of a plan, can be used for almost anything. Some examples:
 - Determining quantities (e.g., 1 = 100 to 6 = 600)
 - Answering a yes/no question (e.g., Do you have matches? An even roll of the dice = no; an odd roll = yes)
 - Deciding whether participants found something (1 = no; 2 = a spring; 3 = a stream, etc.)

We have used RPAs in our school since 1997, and they have yielded fun classes with lots of laughter, engaged participants, long-term recall of new vocabulary and structures, and better and faster language acquisition.

2-мабзү: Writing Project: Surveys

Level: High-intermediate or advanced

Time: Six one-hour class periods

The composition assignment: Participants will design their own surveys and execute their own research. This project involves writing a poll or survey, collecting first-hand data, organizing and presenting this data using both graphic representations and written discourse. Ultimately, the final participant projects could be compiled into a class magazine, which would be distributed to other participants at the school.

What participants will learn by doing this assignment?

The learning goals for this assignment are manifold. For one, participants will gain familiarity with the terminology and procedure for doing first hand research. Secondly, because this is an integrated skills class, they will continue to develop their oral fluency outside of the classroom by asking people the questions on their polls. In addition, because the final products will be compiled into a class magazine, participants will gain increasing sensitivity to the idea of writing for a particular audience. Lastly, participants may develop advanced skills for using Microsoft Word, specifically the ability to import and reformat web images and create tables and charts. Though these goals may seem somewhat varied, it is important to note that especially in an intensive language program, where participants have a number of reasons for wanting to master English, class projects should maintain appeal for all involved.

Project Outline:

Each session is designed to take approximately 60 minutes. This is a process session with some emphasis on product, as the participants final writings may appear as magazine articles. The recommended time for this project is two weeks, though it could easily stretch over three weeks; as a three-week project, final articles would go through another revision.

Day One: T begins by asking Participants to freewrite on a general question For example, what did you expect the United States (and this school) to be like before you arrived? What surprised you once you got here? Following 3-5 minutes of freewriting, T asks class for responses. Together, Participants and T brainstorm a list of topics. T writes these on board, ultimately explaining that they are possible research topics for next writing project.

Once a long list of topics is on the board, T asks Participants to think about which topic they would like to research. Participants can either meet in discussion groups to share their views on the topics or Participants take time (10 minutes) to freewrite on their chosen topic; either way, T should ask for feedback.

Next, Participants receive 3-5 sample sets of survey questions. In groups, Participants create a set of criteria for writing poll/survey questions. T leads class in a discussion of designing strong survey questions.

Homework: write your survey questions.

Day Two: Class begins with a peer review of questions. Working in groups, participants try asking and answering the questions they have written. At this stage, Participants are encouraged to weed out any weak questions and add stronger ones as necessary. Once Participants are content with their questions, T can provide a brief grammatical review of question formation, a problem that seems to plague participants at every level. Participants are then asked to check their questions for accuracy. During this step, T should circulate among Participants, helping to correct grammatical mistakes by underlining them, thereby guiding Participants toward self-correction. Now, Participants are brought to the computer lab to re-write, edit, and print final copies of their polls. Depending on the computer literacy level of the group, T might first provide a brief demonstration of using Microsoft Words numbered list icon and formatting menu. T assists as needed. Following class, T assists Participants in making multiple copies of their surveys. Homework: collect data.

Day Three: Participants bring completed surveys to class, 20 min (optional) to obtain data orally from classmates. Participants are now paired to discuss survey results. (For this step, T writes several discussion questions on the board: What topic are you researching? What did you find out? Does this information surprise you?) Individuals are then given 10 minutes to freewrite on the question: what does the data mean? Afterward, T presents several different ways of organizing data, including the use of graphic representations, both pie charts and bar graphs. Homework: Bring a rough draft of your article for peer evaluation.

Day Four: Participants may exchange papers, though this is not required. Rather, Participants are given two sets of discussion questions and work with their partner to insure their papers are addressing all vital concerns on this topic. Once this is done, T provides several sample articles. Participants work in groups to analyze these models. Homework: Bring rough drafts to class for peer evaluation.

Day Five: Peer exchange of papers. Participants fill out peer evaluation forms (attached) and then give each other oral feedback. Now, Participants are brought to the computer lab, where T demonstrates how to insert charts into Word documents (Insert/Picture/Chart/Enter data) and how to import and grayscale images from the WWW (Right click/Copy Image/Paste/Image Properties/Grayscale/Text Alignment). Participants are given class time to rework final ideas, re-write, and add graphics to their pages. During this time, T holds mini-conferences with individual Participants. Homework: Bring a final copy of your article both a printed copy and on disk!

Day Six: T gives Participants editing guidelines. Participants proofread their own papers following these guidelines, then exchange papers to double check grammatical accuracy in peer's paper. Participants are assigned to magazine groups. After this, the remainder of the session is spent in the computer lab. Participants make final changes to their articles. One magazine group makes a table of contents page and front cover. Another makes signs promoting the free magazine. Following the session, T makes multiple copies of class magazine. These are places near the front desk and in the computer lab, for other Participants to take and read.

Rationale:

The rationale for my having decided on a research project is a bit complex. For one, it is an often-neglected area in ESL writing tasks. Secondly, the session appeals to a wide range of interests. Some participants may be entering university programs which will require them to conduct research projects; still others will undoubtedly enter a business environment in which first hand research will play a role. Even for those Participants who will derive no long-term benefits from designing a research project, the oral component of negotiating the collection of data is worthwhile. This assignment requires everyone to use his or her English skills outside of class.

The peer response segment of this session is designed to foster interactivity while giving writers feedback from the very audience for whom they are writing. Peer response is given both written and verbally. The written portion is designed to have participants look carefully at whether or not their peers are completing the assigned task. Meanwhile, the verbal portion allows for increased oral communication time.

Writing for other participants at the school not only provides a tangible audience but, moreover, results in increased motivation to complete the task at hand.

3-мавуз: Work and Business

The Expert Game

This in-class activity is near foolproof. The activity rests on the idea that participants have a lot to say when they're talking about something they're interested in and passionate about. It works best with an even number of participants, 8-14 total. Nevertheless, it could be used in much larger classrooms with a few adaptations.

- Skills: Speaking
- Levels: High-beginner through advanced
- Materials: Copies of the Classroom Handout, one for each participant (You may have to cut this sheet to get "page two" on the back.)
- Preparation: 5 minutes
- Time: 60-90 minutes

Directions: Introduce the session by writing the word "expert" on the board and eliciting a definition. Then write the expression "jack of all trades," and provide a personal example of someone you know. I use my brother for this one. I say something like, "My brother really is a jack of all trades. He's interested in a lot of different things. He knows a lot about a lot of different things. For example, he went to university for nuclear engineering, so he knows a lot about science. He worked for the government as an engineer. Later, he got an MBA, so he knows a lot about business. He's certified to scuba dive, and has thought about opening his own diving shop. He likes to ski. He can cook. He makes a lot of different types of food. He can fix things in the house when they break. Also, he likes to travel, and he's been to more than 40 different countries, and he really enjoys history, especially American history. So there's a lot of different things my brother is good at." By now, the participants understand what the expression means (and the women are asking whether or not my brother is single).

Next, call on individual participants. Ask them if they are jacks of all trades. Ask what they've studied, what they're interested in. After you've asked a few participants, tell participants to think of five things they're interested in. Remind participants that these things should be varied ("Playing soccer, playing tennis, and swimming are all one category: sports.) At this point, you may want to do a brief grammatical review on the use of gerunds to describe activities. Next, pass out the copies. As the participants are writing, circulate and check for correct grammar. Encourage variety on the responses.

Now, tell participants to choose three of these things to rewrite at the bottom. They are going to be the classroom expert on these three things.

Once participants have finished listing their three areas of expertise, instruct them to fold their papers in half separating the two lists. Now divide the class into As and Bs. As will be the first group of classroom experts. Bs will be the first group of questioners. As will remain at their desks. Bs will circulate.

Have all the Bs put their papers aside and stand up. Ask them to arrange the desks so that every participant who is still sitting has a desk directly facing him/her. Now, tell the Bs to wander around and sit down in front of an A. They should read As topics and ask about something they're interested in.

You should find that the conversation gets going immediately. If your class is an uneven number, you can play too. Otherwise, you can just join different pairs and monitor. After about 5-7 minutes call "Change!" The Bs stand up again, circulate, and choose a new partner for conversation.

Halfway through the time for your session, the As sit down with their sheets. They are now the classroom experts. The Bs get up and circulate, asking questions of the As.

Allow 3-5 minutes at the end of class for synthesis. Bring the class back together. Call on individual participants to report on what they've learned. Encourage them to continue their conversations outside of class.

Vocabulary: The Stock Market

The "stock market" is a crazy place, where trillions of dollars change hands every day. We created this stock market vocabulary page to help people learning English - and even those fluent in English - to better understand some of the most popular stock market terms. These are the terms that you might hear on the TV, or hear people using in a conversation about the stock market.

Stock Market

The "stock market" is the general term used to describe all of the publically traded stocks that can be bought on a stock market exchange. There are many different "indexes" of stocks, and each stock market index includes a different group of stocks.

In the United States, the most popular stock market indexes are the Dow Jones (mostly industrial companies), the S&P 500 (a wide range of companies from different industries) and the Nasdaq (mostly tech stocks).

When people say that the stock market is going up or going down, they are generally referring to one or more of these stock indexes.

Volatile / Volatility

When something is “volatile” it means that it is instable; that it is moving rapidly and erratically. When there is volatility in the stock market, the stock indexes are rising and falling much more rapidly than normal. This volatility can cause people to panic and sell, which can create even more volatility.

Equities / Stocks

Stocks, also known as “equities” are the shares of ownership in a company that can be bought and sold. When you buy a stock you are buying a part ownership of a company. When you sell a stock you are selling your ownership in the company.

Shorting

Shorting is basically the exact opposite of buying a company. When you “go long” (which means to buy a company) you are buying the shares because you expect the price to go up in the future. When you “short” a company, you are selling shares in the company that you do not even yet own, with the expectation that you can later buy the shares at a lower price (“cover” the position) and keep the difference.

Crash

A stock market crash means that the stock market has fallen rapidly over a relatively short period of time. For example, on Black Monday, the stock market crash in October 1987, the Dow Jones fell more than 20% in a single day. In contrast to a Bear Market, which are steady declines in the stock market over a long period of time, crashes usually happen very quickly as panic spreads and everybody is trying to sell at the same time.

Correction

A stock market “correction” is a general term that is used when prices have turned a bit lower, but there is an expectation that prices will turn higher again and continue to go higher after the correction. Professionals in the industry use the term “correction” when there is a 10% fall from the recent highs in the stock market. For example if the stock market falls from 20,000 to 18,000, this is a technical correction.

Bear Market

A bear market generally means that prices are falling over an extended period of time. Unlike a correction, which is generally defined as 10%, a bull market is defined by professionals as stock market declines of 20% or greater. A classic example of a bear market is the stock market crash of 1929 or the housing crisis of 2008.

Bull Market

A bull market is the opposite of a bear market. In a bull market, the overall market is generally going up and prices are rising. In a bull market people are confident about the future of the economy and they are willing to buy shares in companies because they believe the companies will generate more revenue and profit.

Treasuries (Bills, Notes and Bonds)

Treasuries are how governments finance themselves. They borrow money from the general public and from other creditors such as foreign central banks and corporations. These loans to the government are called “treasuries” and are repaid in a structured manner.

In the United States there are generally 3 different types of treasuries: Bills (short term loans, e.g. 1 Year), Notes (medium term loans, e.g. 10 Years) and Bonds (long term loans, e.g. 30 years). Bill, Notes and Bonds each have different repayment terms and different interest rates.

Treasuries are seen as a “safe haven”. This means that generally when people are buying bonds it is because they are unsure about other types of investments, such as stocks/commodities, so they buy treasuries, thinking that the government will always repay the loans even if they have to simply “print” the money.

In the U.S. treasuries are issued by the US Treasury.

Commodities

Commodities are a class of investments. Commodities are generally physical products that are used in construction, for production purposes, or food. Examples of commodities include oil, iron ore, copper, wheat and soybeans. Precious metals such as gold and platinum are also considered commodities.

To check the latest prices of some of the most important commodities, we recommend the commodities section on Bloomberg.

Futures

If you watch CNBC or another financial news TV show you will probably hear the news anchors referring to “the futures”. These futures are quite complex, but in simple terms they are contracts to buy or sell something, at some price, at some date in the future.

The futures are popular because they trade almost 24 hours per day. This means that traders can use the futures to make bets on the economy and stock markets, even when the stock markets themselves are closed. They also provide “indications” as to what the stock market will do when it opens, which is why you will mostly hear the term “futures” in the morning before the stock market opens.

READING

I. Read the article about Manchester. For questions 52-57. Choose the correct answer A, B, C or D.

Manchester is the "capital" of the north-west of England. Situated on the east bank of the River Irwell, it is a lively, bustling city with a large student population. Although it was once seen only as a dull, industrialised place, in recent years Manchester has become the "in" place to be. It is well-known for its trendy clubs, its fashion and music not to mention its world famous football team, Manchester United.

There's plenty to see in Manchester and something to suit all tastes. For example, you could have a taste of the Orient in Chinatown, home to Manchester's large Chinese population. Another place to visit is the historic Eastlefield area, which has the first urban heritage park in Britain. Here you can take a canal trip, stroll around the museums and experience the atmosphere of 19th century Manchester.

Football fans need not feel left out; they can always make a trip to the Old Trafford Manchester United Museum which also contains a coffee shop and a souvenir shop.

It's easy to find your way around the city centre and you're never too far away from a tram or a bus, which will take you wherever you want to go. However, many people prefer walking in a city where there's so much to see, and much of it is off the main travel routes.

But if you get tired with all that walking around, you can refresh yourself at one of the many café bars in the city. There is a wide variety of homely, old-fashioned or even eccentric ones.

Whatever you do, you won't have a dull moment in the place which was recently awarded the title of "most interesting city in Europe". Despite its unpopular industrial image in the past, Manchester is becoming more and more popular as a tourist destination nowadays.

- 52 According to the article, Manchester is
- A a small city in the north-west of England.
 - B only known for its heavy industry.
 - C interesting only if you like football.
 - D a very exciting place these days.
- 53 If you're interested in history,
- A you can visit the Eastlefield area.
 - B you can go to Chinatown.
 - C you don't have a big choice in Manchester.
 - D there are only a few 19th century buildings you can see.
- 54 Moving around the city centre
- A is rather confusing and difficult.
 - B can only be done by walking.
 - C is very tiring.
 - D can be done in various ways.
- 55 If you want to have a coffee or a drink in the centre
- A there are mainly traditional café bars.
 - B there's plenty of choice for all tastes.
 - C there are only extremely modern café bars.
 - D there are only a few places you can go to.
- 56 What was Manchester like in the past?
- A A small dull city.
 - B An exciting city to visit.
 - C A city full of factories.
 - D Tourists' most popular destination
- 57 What does "its" in line 55 refer to?
- A Europe
 - B Manchester
 - C tourism
 - D industry

Мавзы 5 : Environmental Issues

Hurricane Mitch

Time: approximately 90 minutes

Level: High-intermediate

Objective: Participants will be able to use context clues to derive meaning for unknown vocabulary. (Because this is designed as an integrated skills session, a secondary objective is for participants to continue to develop their listening skills and oral fluency on a wide variety of topics.)

Pre-reading Task: Deriving Clues from Context (15 minutes)

Tell participants that we're going to be reading about natural disasters. Ask a few questions to stimulate interest in the reading task. (What do you do when you're reading and you come to a new word? How often do you use your dictionary? Why is it bad to keep referring to dictionary over the course of a short reading?) Once participants have determined their own reasons for wanting to avoid heavy dictionary usage, you can guide them in this task. Give them some examples of deriving meaning from context; the sentences below use natural disasters as the topic. (You can either write these examples on the board or distribute photocopies to the participants.) Make sure your participants know the italicized words are nonsense words. After asking participants to identify the part of speech for each word, focus on more direct ways of ascertaining meaning from context. Specifically, those ways are:

Using context clues:

It was raining really hard, so I put on my father's growl on before going outside.

Using affixes and roots:

The reading on the murk meter was 9.2 centimeters.

Using discourse connectors:

After the mudslide, we couldn't walk through the kitchen because of all the ink on the floor.

(Although there are other ways to attack new vocabulary, introducing only three target questions provides participants with a manageable number of ways to endeavor on this new and somewhat daunting process.)

Reading Task:

"Deriving Meaning from Context" 30+ minutes

Note: The article participants will read comes from USA Today On-line. It is a summary of the damage and destruction caused by Hurricane Mitch. Because this is a rather lengthy article, I have divided it into three parts. The first part will be done in class. The two remaining parts can be given for homework; half the participants will receive Homework A, the other half Homework B.

Throughout the three parts of the article, I have maintained nearly all of the authentic text, cutting only two less important paragraphs and substituting maybe five words total. I have approached the remaining vocabulary in one of two ways: if the word seems difficult to ascertain from context, I have glossed it. Otherwise, new vocabulary is bold-faced. For the in-class portion of this exercise, definitions of the bold-faced words are provided under the text.

Directions to teacher: Pass out the reading only. With the participants go through the first paragraph, asking for possibilities. Note these on the board. Then, pass out the definitions. Ask participants to identify which definition fits. Ask the participants to repeat the same procedure individually. Circulate and assist as needed. Finally, have participants compare their work with a partner. Help each pair with any disagreements.

Assessment: (15 minutes) here, assessment is a two-fold process. First, participants are assessed on their ability to glean new meaning from context. This is done through comparing their work with a partner. You should assist to resolve any discrepancies.

Next, participants are assessed on their general comprehension of the article. You can do this by giving an oral summary of the article. However, tell the participants that you're tired/the article confused you etc. and let them know that you will be making mistakes. For example, the first paragraph may be summarized as follows: Still in pairs, participants can work together to accomplish this task. When I did this, each time I made a mistake, Ss had to stop me and correct me. I actually did this like a game, keeping track of each pairs' "points" on the board. Because my class was fairly small, this was fine. In a larger class, the you might arrange participants in small groups, having each group take notes on the mistakes and later comparing their answers.

Follow-up discussion: (15 minutes) Working in pairs, participants can discuss the questions in Exercise Two on the classroom handout.

Homework: Pass out the remainder of the newspaper article from USA Today. It's the same with glossed vocabulary to match. Here, however, no definitions are provided. Explain task to participants. Assessment on the homework can be provided through an in-class A/B pair activity.

Vocabulary Cards: Natural Disasters and the Weather

Activity: Vocabulary Review (Circumlocutions Game)

Skills: Speaking, Listening

Level: Intermediate-advanced

Class Time: 30 minutes

Preparation: However long it takes you to print this page, copy onto cardstock, and cut up.

Directions: Divide the class into small groups. (If you have fewer than ten participants, you could play together--just pair participants and have each pair be a team.) Give each group a set of vocabulary cards. Instruct participants to place the cards face down in the center of the group. Play begins by one participant choosing a card and providing an oral definition. No gesturing or spelling is allowed. The person who answers with the word on the card gets to keep the card. Play continues clockwise. If a participant does not know a vocabulary word, the card is returned to the middle of the deck and the participant forfeits his/her turn. Play continues until all of the cards have been defined. The winner is the person with the most cards.

Variation: Use the cards and the board to play team Pictionary or check out Ideas for Vocabulary Cards for more suggestions.

7-Мавзы: Teaching with the Internet

We've created this page to provide resources, sessions, and ideas on teaching with the Internet. The printable activities for classroom use come in two main session formats: scavenger hunts and Internet worksheets. We also have several discussion forums where you can share your ideas and links to other web sites about the Internet. Don't get left behind. The information super highway is waiting.

Scavenger Hunts

These Internet scavenger hunts are for intermediate and advanced participants. They can be done in pairs or individually. Each session will take around 90 minutes. To use these scavenger hunts, print the page and review the tasks with your participants before bringing them to the computer lab. Once there, participants can come directly to Karin's ESL PartyLand. (Clicking on the links from this site will result in new windows opening in their browsers.)

Music - This scavenger hunt will teach participants about the International Lyrics Server, MIDI karakoe, on-line music quizzes, and more. Please note, the MIDI karakoe site requires QuickTime. If your computers are not equipped with QuickTime, I recommend skipping this site rather than having participants download the program.

Movies - A WWW activity in which participants learn how to use the International Movie Database, find scripts and screenplays, and more. This session will take at least 60 minutes.

The News - This Internet scavenger hunt will introduce participants to USA Today On-line, teach them one way to find newspapers on the WWW, and involve them in learning about current events at CNN Interactive.

- A After that, lava and mud will begin to erupt from the crater.
- B At present, no public services are working apart from the emergency services.

- E Also, a resulting mudflow in the nearby Toutle River caused the river to burst its banks.
- F Experts claim that the blast exploded 1,300 feet into the air from the peak of the mountain and has left behind a 5,000 foot deep crater.

Volcanic Eruption Results in Tragedy

At around 6am yesterday morning, there was a large explosion at the peak of Mount St. Helen's. The volcanic eruption, which came without warning, exploded with a force similar to that of an atom bomb, killing six people and leaving twenty-one others missing. 62 The blast was heard 200 miles away in Canada but, strangely, went unheard 45 miles away in the Vancouver area.

According to geologists, this violent eruption is the first of its kind in 32,000 years. 63 The devastating consequences of the eruption have been widespread. There have been several connected explosions in the region, and the surrounding areas have been blackened out by ash clouds, which are making rescue attempts extremely difficult.

64 The water swept away houses, bridges and cars.

Conditions are not expected to improve in the near future. Experts predict that ash will continue to rise from the mountain for a few days. 65 This could continue for another fifteen or twenty years.

It will be quite some time before things get back to normal for the residents of the area. 66 Rescue efforts are continuing today in an attempt to find any survivors. Despite extreme difficulties and dangerous conditions, it is hoped that the rescue operation will be carried out successfully. 67

A statement estimating the cost of the damage is expected to be issued later this week.

English Speaking Cultures & Cultural Differences

English has become the leading language of international communication. It is the third most widely spoken language in the world and the official language of 53 countries. The United States is an English speaking culture and so is Great Britain. This paper will explore American and British culture as they relate to the English language.

The United States is a multicultural and multilingual nation. The population is ethnically and racially diverse. Americans have many different traditions and values and the culture has been influenced heavily by European immigrants and the descendants of slaves from the African continent. English is not the official language, but people who do not speak it usually deal with limited employment opportunities. Learning English opens doors and allows people to become part of main stream society. The government provides services in many languages to accommodate newcomers. Details about certain aspects of English-speaking American Culture are below.

American (US) Culture

- Most Americans are friendly and informal. It is common for people address others who they know well by a first name only.
- It is important to be polite in most social situations. People commonly please and thank you when they interact with each other.
- Most Americans dress casually outside of work. Jeans and sweatshirts are very popular. Business casual attire is acceptable in most offices.

- The formality of meals at private homes varies, so it is a good idea to follow the lead of the host
- Americans use a lot of slang and idiomatic expressions. Sometimes it is difficult for non-native speakers to learn the expressions, but after hearing them frequently they will learn what they mean.

United Kingdom (UK) Culture

Four countries make up the United Kingdom. They are England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. The English language is not governed by a formal code. People from around the world go to England to learn English, live and work. English people speak Modern English that evolved from Old English. Details about the culture and traditions are below.

- British people are reserved, but friendly and helpful to foreigners. It is okay to address people there by their first name after you get to know them and they invite you to do so. The British observe formalities and protocols in business and punctuality is of paramount importance.
- Many English people enjoy entertaining in their homes. They expect guests to arrive 10-20 minutes after the start time. Generally dinner conversation is not about work.
- The residents of larger cities like London dress more formally than the residents of the countryside. Men and women love to wear, jeans, wools and tweeds to casual gatherings.

English usage varies between cultures. The people of England have spoken it for over 1,000 years. American English, however, has only a 300 year history. It evolved from Old English and has been influenced by immigration, slavery and even wars. Most ESL/EFL programs teach American and British English. The three main differences are pronunciation, vocabulary and spelling. British Commonwealth countries where the residents are not native English speakers frequently closely follow British English. The countries which have been historically influenced by the United States follow American English usage.

11-Мавзй: Oral Presentations

Oral presentations are a great way for participants to practice their English skills. The extra pressure of knowing they're going to be in front of the classroom provides participants with some great extrinsic motivation for staying on task. I usually start by going through presentation basics with the group, then assigning an oral presentation every three weeks or so. (As a general rule, never allow participants to write out their presentations. Rather, encourage them to use note cards to stay on track.)

- Presentation Basics - This classroom handout discusses the basic structure of an oral presentation. (Ideally, you should prepare a presentation yourself to give as a model. Then elicit the structure of an oral presentation from the class before reviewing the handout.)
- Oral Presentations: Do's & Don'ts - This classroom handout provides advice on giving presentations.
- Oral Presentations: Peer Evaluation Form - This is a peer evaluation form for participants to use while their classmates are presenting. To allow for greater objectivity, I don't have the participants write their own names on the forms - just the name of the participant they're evaluating. Before having participants use this form, make sure you've gone through presentation basics with the group.
- Oral Presentations: Teacher Evaluation - You can use this form as participants give their presentations. Because the peer evaluation form has a lot of feedback on presentation skills, this one focuses on grammar. I usually write down direct quotes and underline the mistakes. Participants must then take some time to self-correct their mistakes.

Oral Presentations: Basics

The Big Rule: Tell them what you're going to tell them. Tell them. Tell them what you told them. In other words, your presentation should have three parts: an introduction, body, and conclusion. Let's look at these three parts and see what you should include in each.

The Introduction

The purpose of the introduction is not only to introduce your topic, but also to interest your audience in the topic.

Grab the audience's attention by somehow involving them in your topic. You can do this by asking a question, offering an interesting fact, using a quotation or telling a short story. (The question "How many people here have a home computer?" is a lot more interesting than "Today I'm going to tell you about the Internet.")

You should preview the content of your presentation by offering a brief outline of what you will be discussing. You may also want to include why you choose this topic to present on.

The Body

The body of your presentation should support your introduction by offering facts, opinions, and reasons to support your topic. It should contain at least three ideas with supporting details to illustrate your point.

The Conclusion

The conclusion should restate the main points without giving examples. Think of it as a brief summary which emphasizes what you want the audience to remember. You can finish with a recommendation, a personal thought, an observation, or a question. Your closing statement (Oral Presentations: Do's & Don'ts

Be organized! The more organized and focused your presentation is, the more relaxed you'll feel.

Breathe! (It helps you relax.)

Don't try to cover too much material. Remember you only have 7-10 minutes.

Do speak clearly, slowly and at an appropriate level for your audience.

Use vocabulary that is appropriate for your audience. If you use new vocabulary, make sure you explain it and write it on the board.

Do make eye contact with all members of your audience.

Do move around.

Do use hand gestures.

Do allow the audience to ask questions at the end of your presentation.

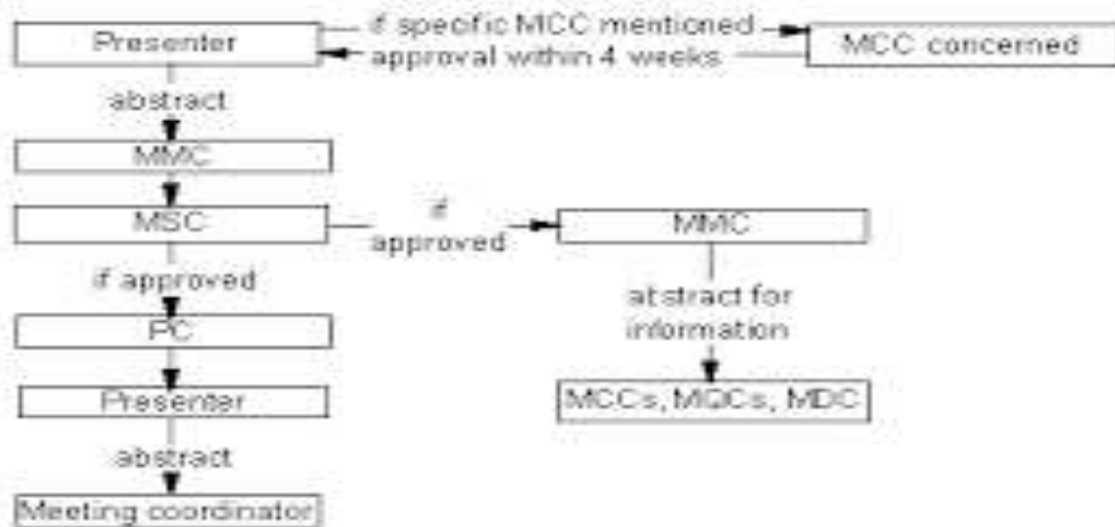

Don't read your presentation. You can use short notes, but reading a presentation is unnatural; also, it makes it very difficult for your audience to follow.

Do practice your presentation with a partner or in front of the mirror.

Do remember to thank your audience and introduce the next speaker.

the last statement) should pull your presentation together.

Teaching with Music

Take advantage of the power of music and use it in your ESL classes.

We've created this page to provide resources, sessions, and ideas on teaching with music. There are printable materials for classroom use, sessions, lyrics, and ideas. We also have two discussion forums and links to other web sites about music. Get ready to jam.

Low Prep Ideas for Using Music in the ESL Classroom

Sessions

- Conversation Question Cards: Music - A conversation card set on music. For suggestions on how to use these cards, take a look at Ideas for Using Conversation Card Sets.
- Musical Impressions - You bring four songs to class and copies of this classroom handout. Then divide the participants into groups of three, and monitor as they engage in meaningful discussion. For use with high-beginner and low-intermediate participants.
- ESL Scavenger Hunt: Music - This is an Internet scavenger hunt intermediate and advanced participants can do in pairs or individually. This session will take 45-60 minutes. To use this scavenger hunt, print the page and review the tasks with your participants before bringing them to the computer lab. Once there, participants can come directly to this site. (Clicking on the links from this site will result in a new window opening in their browsers.) This scavenger hunt will teach participants about the International Lyrics Server, MIDI karakoe, on-line music quizzes, and more. Please note, the MIDI karaoke site requires QuickTime. If your computers are not equipped with QuickTime, I recommend skipping this site rather than having participants download the program.

- The All Music Guide - This Internet worksheet introduces participants to the extensive on-line music resource called the All Music Guide.

Designed for use in small groups, each session includes pre-listening discussion questions, a vocabulary exercise, a listening fill-in, and discussion questions. Though these sessions were designed for high-intermediate listening/speaking classes, they could easily be adapted for other skills or levels.

READING

I. Read the article about Holi. For questions 52-57, choose the correct answer: A, B, C or D.

Many people know about the Hindu festival Diwali, as it is probably the most famous one, but have you ever heard of Holi? This is a spring celebration, connected with the moon and – in Western India only – with the wheat harvest. It is celebrated on the day of the full moon, either in February or March.

As with most Indian festivals, there are regional custom variations throughout India. Where my family and I live, we always build a bonfire. We sort out all the objects associated with what is not wanted from the previous year so that they can be thrown onto the fire. You see our New Year begins immediately after Holi. We also prepare coloured water and powders to throw at each other on the day. For this reason, it is advisable not to wear your best clothes for Holi! It is a very funny thing to see, but so is the day itself; it is dedicated to the god Krishna and it is characterised by laughter and jollity. That's why people throw coloured water and powders in all colours of the rainbow at each other. The streets look as if there was an explosion in a paint factory!

Of course, despite its joyful character, the day has a more serious side too. The burning of objects in the bonfire symbolises getting yourself clean and ready for the New Year. That's why people pay or forgive debts, become friends and forgive each other and generally try to forget and leave behind any fights or anything negative from the old year. Holi is a festival which ends the year on a happy note and begins the New Year on a fresh, hopeful one. It makes us all feel better for having celebrated it.

- 52 According to the writer, Holi is
A not a Hindu Festival.
B the most famous Hindu Festival.
C very similar to Diwali.
D less famous than Diwali.
- 53 Holi is usually celebrated
A whenever there is a full moon.
B in February or March.
C at the same time as Diwali.
D in Western India.

- 54 Holi
A is celebrated in different ways around India.
B is only celebrated where the writer lives.
C is not at all similar to other Indian Festivals.
D is not very popular in the area where the writer lives.
- 55 Coloured water
A is thrown onto the bonfire by people.
B is used to colour people's clothes.
C is thrown by people at each other.
D explodes from paint factories.

Reading

You are going to read a magazine article about London. For questions 1 - 7, choose the answer (A, B, C or D) which you think fits best according to the text.

The Spirit of London

London often gives the impression of being more comfortable in its past than its present. From the world-famous landmarks of Paul's Cathedral, Buckingham Palace and the Tower of London, the traditional and well-loved double-decker buses, the theatres and the many grand hotels, England's capital offers visitors a journey through centuries of history. This journey is even clearer now that the building works, which covered many historic sites, have been taken down. Newly cleaned and restored buildings are revealed, and the city looks as if it has been revitalised. The city has also rediscovered its river. The area between the South Bank Arts Centre, which includes the National Theatre, and Tower Bridge, has been brought back to life and the city has found new heart along the forgotten riverside. As you walk eastwards along the river from Westminster, you will discover that old warehouses have been transformed into galleries, shops and clubs. Across the river from London Bridge is 'The City of London', the financial district of the capital. The City has its own historic delights such as the 15th century Guildhall and churches designed by Sir Christopher Wren. The best way to explore the City is on foot. For instance, you can "walk through the ages", starting from Fournier Street and ending at the modern Lloyd's building on Lime Street. However, in London you are never far away from the past; the old-fashioned red telephone boxes are becoming popular again and many London pubs — where a visitor might ask for a pint of bitter — have been restored to their original Victorian beauty. But the capital is not a historical theme park. It is a lively and exciting metropolis which is well-known for its popular culture, music, clubs, street fashion, and visual arts. Today, many of its fine variety of restaurants claim to be as good as in any other European capitals. For example, Marco Pierre White's highly recommended restaurant at the Hyde Park Hotel is a perfect example of new English cuisine — unusual, sophisticated and extremely expensive. When it comes to shopping, Covent Garden and King's Road in Chelsea offer a mixture of reasonably priced chainstore clothing and unique boutiques selling everything from rave gear to skateboards. Shoppers with full wallets and more sophisticated tastes should head for Knightsbridge, where Harrods and Harvey Nichols compete to be the most exclusive department store in London. Much of London's energy and originality is now centred in Soho, the city's liveliest and most bohemian area, squeezed in between the department stores of Oxford Street and the bookshops of Strand Cross Road. Soho, once considered one of the dirtiest and most dangerous parts of London, was cleaned up in the early 80's. Today, with its gurgling cappuccino machines and pavement cafés, it has become a meeting place for all kinds of people from all over the world, whatever the hour of day or night. So, even if you are new to the city, you don't have to try hard in order to experience the real London. Despite its heavy traffic and fast underground railway, it is still one of the world's greatest and most cosmopolitan cities.

In its place there is a lovely new park with fabulous gardens. The old mill has also been replaced by a sports and leisure centre, and the entire riverfront has been turned into a place for peaceful walks by the water. The History of Sport

Can you imagine a world without sports? Today, there are many different sports to watch or to take part in, from quiet, gentle sports like snooker to thrilling, extreme sports like bungee jumping. There are sports to suit all kinds of people. But how did sports begin?

53
We can not be sure exactly when people began to play sports. We know that children throughout history have always used sports to play together and have fun, but we don't know when adults started to use sports as physical contests, the way they do today. Cave paintings show pictures of men hunting, but whether this was for sport or for survival is not certain.

54
In ancient Egypt, Rome and Greece, sports were definitely popular. The ancient Egyptians enjoyed hunting and archery, and the ancient Romans loved to watch chariot races, boxing, wrestling and, of course, gladiatorial combats in which men fought against men or animals. However, it was the ancient Greeks who first took part in athletic contests. The most famous sporting event in the world, the Olympic Games, began in Greece in 776 B.C.

Medieval sports were not as organised as events in ancient times. At fairs or festivals, men would lift heavy stones and women would run races, but the most popular sport of the time was 'folk football', a game which involved a lot of violence and very few rules, and which often caused serious injuries to its players. Among the middle and upper classes, archery contests and tournaments (in which two knights on horseback practised the art of war) were the preferred sporting events.

From the late 17th century, sports became more organised and started to resemble the games we play today. During the 18th and 19th centuries, national organisations were formed which made sure that rules were followed and arranged regular competitions. Modern sport became popular all over the world and national games such as tennis (French) and football (English), became international sports.

57
Thanks to the media, sport in the 21st century is as much a popularity contest as an athletic contest. Certain sports teams are supported by fans all over the world, and individual athletes are seen as celebrities. Sports have changed a lot over the years, but they still provide entertainment for many people.

Eating Habits

Lead-in

- Look at the pictures. Which of these foods are healthy and which are unhealthy? Can you think of any other healthy or unhealthy kinds of food?
- What is your favourite dish?

Why?

- Have you ever tasted ethnic food (e.g. Chinese, Indian, etc.)? Did you enjoy it?
- What is junk food? Why do people eat so much junk food nowadays?

▶▶▶ Read the following summary and guess the correct items. Then, listen to the tape and find out if your guesses were correct.

In today's world, people have less time for eating, let alone 1) shopping/cooking. That's why junk food is so popular. In fact, one 2) hotel/restaurant group has announced that its 3) guests/staff can order 4) junk/fast food through room service. Junk food is 5) high/low in saturated fat, which is linked with a higher risk of 6) diabetes/cancer. Our eating habits have changed due to lack of 7) money/time. Also, the amount of exercise we do has 8) decreased/increased. Researchers suggest that the new generation will be more likely to suffer from heart and 9) kidney/liver disease. But if we improve our eating habits, we will be better equipped to deal with our 10) stressful/boring lifestyles.

Reading

You are going to read a newspaper article about unhealthy food. Six paragraphs have been removed from the article. Choose from paragraphs A-G the one which fits each gap (1-5).

There is one extra paragraph which you do not need to use. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Junk Food

In today's fast-moving world, people have less and less time to spend eating, let alone cooking. It is probably for this reason that junk food has become so popular, and there's no doubt that it's here to stay. In fact, it seems that you simply can't get away from it. One British hotel group recently announced that its guests are able to order fast food through room service, a move which is seen by many as signifying a new era in the couch potato lifestyle. So what exactly is junk food?

0 _____

Obviously, a diet of junk food is not the best thing for your health, particularly as it is high in saturated fat. In 1993, the Journal of the National Cancer Institute reported this type of fat to be associated with a greater risk of cancer.

1 _____

The best advice, then, for those who cannot live without their hamburgers or chocolate bars, is to limit the amount of junk food they eat. A little now and then will probably do no harm. But why have our eating habits changed? "It's lack of time and loss of tradition," says one expert.

2 _____

Another alarming thing about people's lifestyles today is that while the amount of junk food we eat has increased, the amount of exercise we do has actually decreased. Exercise plays an important part in keeping the body fit and healthy; it helps to control our weight and, if taken regularly, can also decrease our chances of having a heart attack in later life.

3 _____

Even though people nowadays are actually far more aware of the importance of exercise and a healthy diet than they were a few years ago, the new unhealthy way of life is surprisingly popular. This is illustrated by statistics gathered by researchers over the past two decades.

4 _____

Researchers suggest that the new generation will be much more likely to suffer from heart and liver disease. What can't be emphasised enough is the fact that a balanced diet and regular exercise bring significant health benefits.

5 _____

Ironically, if they were to make time to exercise and improve their eating habits, they would probably find that they were far better equipped to deal with their stressful lifestyles than they are now.

- A Recent research has shown that young French people, who prefer burgers and chips to rich gourmet dishes, tend to become overweight. Weight gained in adolescence is extremely hard to lose in later life, so researchers are predicting that the new French generation are not going to be admired for their slim figures as the French have traditionally been.
- B Basically, it is anything that is high in calories but lacking in nutrition. Hamburgers, crisps, chocolate bars and hot dogs fall into this category. Pizzas, although they can have vegetable and cheese toppings, are also included as they contain a lot of fat.
- C Not all junk food is bad for your health, however. Some hamburgers, for example, are very high in nutrients and low in fat. It is just a question of finding out what goes into the food before you decide to eat it.
- D Apart from the risk of cancer, another side effect of consuming highly fattening junk food is that you are likely to gain weight. This is especially true because you tend to eat more, as junk food is less satisfying and lower in vital nutrients than healthier food.
- E You can gain anything from glowing skin to an all-round feeling of good health. One way or another, the vast majority of people seem to be missing out on this, due mainly to the pressures of modern life.
- F What is more, you don't have to exercise much to gain visible benefits. Doctors say that twenty minutes' exercise three times a week is all that is necessary.
- G He explains that people are too busy to cook and eat proper meals, so they grab whatever is available — and that is usually junk food. Also, the style of life represented on TV, especially in music videos, is fast. Young people pick up the idea that speed means excitement, whereas anything traditional is slow and boring. As a result, they turn down traditional food and go for junk food instead.

Reading

You are going to read an article about surfing. Choose the most suitable headings from the list (A-H) for each part (1-6) of the article. There is one extra heading which you do not need to use. There is an example at the beginning (0).

- A Finding the waves
- B Surfers love the crowds
- C Surfing – it's addictive
- D Little equipment and a good trainer
- E Never easy – but always enjoyable
- F The international sport
- G Learning from previous generations
- H Two essentials: strength and fearlessness

Surf's up!

Riding the waves can be the thrill of a lifetime. But what does it take to become a surfer?

0 _____ C

If you have ever dreamt about incredibly big seas with huge powerful waves crashing onto sandy beaches, then you should definitely think about learning to surf. It's the most exciting watersport there is. Serious surfers must be very brave, love adventure and have lots of energy. Once they've experienced the excitement of a ride on top of the waves, they never want to stop.

1 _____

Surfers say they feel it's the only place to be. Many travel around the world searching for the perfect wave, moving from one surf festival to another and checking weather forecasts to see where the really exciting waves are expected next. Some even carry paggers which beep when there are weather reports of perfect conditions. A surfer's greatest disappointment would be missing the opportunity to surf in the best weather conditions.

2 _____

Hawaii is where the sport began – the place which most surfers see as their 'true home'. They love nature and the excitement you get from the deep waters. Enormous waves crash along mile after mile of beautiful sand, and every surfer dreams of experiencing surfing in Maui or Oahu. Other great surfing locations include Australia, the west coast of the U.S., the Caribbean, Brazil, Japan, Hong Kong, South Africa, the Canary Islands, and Cornwall. Experienced surfers are always in search of the best waves in some totally unspoilt paradise that hardly anyone has heard of.

3 _____

It takes time for a beginner to learn the technique, but during a long hot summer, who minds practising? The professionals, of course, are in the sea every day, then come back onto the beach to do some exercises with weights. You need to be a strong swimmer with good balance and plenty of courage to be an expert surfer.

4 _____

You can surf almost anywhere in any weather if you are wearing a wet suit. All you need to do then is choose a surfboard and you're ready to go – hopefully into big waves that are warm, with an experienced teacher to lead you. You don't need to wear a wet suit in summer, but many surfers keep them on all the time since they can protect you from the hot sun as well as from cold water.

5 _____

It can take a few weeks or it can take a whole summer for you to learn to catch a wave at the right moment, stand up on your board and stay there. It's an amazing feeling when you look down and see your feet on the board and realise you are finally standing up on the sea, even if you aren't very steady. Professional surfers look as if they learned to surf as soon as they could walk. For example, Shane Powell, an Australian professional, watched videos of Australian surfing heroes like Peter Townsend, Barton Lynch and Tom Carroll as he was growing up. He says, "As a boy I'd watch those surfers and just imagine myself riding the waves." Powell seems to move over the sea without any difficulty. He first practised on small waves, but clearly had talent. By the age of 17 he was touring with the world's best surfers, and now, at 23, he practises every day and an even younger generation of surfers study videos of him in action.

6 _____

Simply watching great surfers will make you want to try the sport. If you do try it, you'll find muscles you never knew you had; you may begin to think you might never get it right, but you'll have a lot of fun.

Reading

You are going to read a text about a new teaching method. Seven sentences have been removed from the article. Choose from the sentences A-H the one which fits each gap (1-6). There is one extra sentence which you do not need to use. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Cooperative Kids

The concept of cooperative learning is alien to all of us who were taught the traditional way, but it offers our children the adventure of finding their own answers. Di Lilford reports.

If you took a doctor from the 19th century and put her in a modern operating theatre, she would have no idea what to do, but if you put a teacher from the 19th century into a modern classroom she would be able to carry on teaching without pause. 0 D

The idea remains that students are empty containers which the teacher fills with knowledge, and that all students have to do is listen and write.

Education consultant Alyce Miller says: "This approach does not work in today's changing world. We are not teaching creative problem-solving. We encourage competition, believing that this brings out the best in people." But this is not so. 1 She goes on to say that the teacher's role is no longer to feed students with information. "The facts are available in libraries, on CD ROMS and on the Internet. What students need are the skills to find this information, to use it and to think creatively in order to solve the problems of our world."

Miller believes that cooperative learning is the future of education and thinks of it as the best way to encourage responsibility, tolerance and helpfulness towards others. 2

In cooperative learning classes, the traditional classroom physical layout is abandoned. 3

Pupils learn to work first in pairs, then in threes, and finally in teams of four. Students are required to participate actively in discussing and shaping their own knowledge. The teacher, who is still very important to the process, becomes the helper rather than the master.

Aarnout Brombacher, head of the mathematics department at Westerford High School, says: "The incorrect assumption that many people make about cooperative learning is that it is merely group work. It is much, much more. 4 With this technique, most of the time in the classroom is spent teaching them these skills - life skills."

Brett Melville, a 17-year-old pupil at the school, agrees. "You learn the same material as you would using the normal method, but this way you learn how to work with others at the same time. In our class, we are given enough time to discuss issues and problems in detail."

5 One teacher, Lynne Gedye, has been using cooperative learning in her classes for two years. She says, "This year we have several pupils in the class who can hardly speak a word of English. I was tearing my hair out, wondering what to do, but I need not have worried. The children's response was amazing. 6

All in all, it seems that cooperative learning turns the classroom from a competitive arena into a place where learning facts and life skills is both more fun and more effective for pupils and teachers alike.

- A Children do not sit in straight rows of desks facing the teacher, but rather face one another to make it easier to share ideas.
- B The strong ones coached the weak ones endlessly so that they could participate in the question time too.
- C However, she believes that this method is not suitable for all pupils.
- D Teaching methods have hardly changed in one hundred years.
- E She says that good relationships are the key to effective learning.
- F Encouraging children to concentrate on getting the best marks destroys motivation and takes the fun out of learning.
- G He adds that it might take longer than simply listening to the teacher lecture, but the students remember much more afterwards.
- H It recognises that pupils do not have the skills to work together.

Орадан бир кун ўтиб қизнинг бувиси яна телефон қилди ва қайта йигитнинг ота-онасини чақиртириш кераклигини таъкидлади. Бу вазиятда синф раҳбари сифатида қандай йўл тутар эдингиз? Жавобингизни педагогик нуқтаи назардан асосланг.

Academic language proficiency	Ability in language skills needed for mastering academic material; pertains to both written and oral language.
Accountability	1. Research conducted by classroom teachers, often concurrent with their teaching. 2. Assessment processes provide information to parents, students, systems, institutions and other stakeholders and may be open to public scrutiny. For accountability purposes it is the professional responsibility of schools and teachers to ensure that assessment procedures are appropriate, transparent, equitable and inclusive of all learners.
Action research	A cyclic research process where an identified problem or question is systematically investigated within a specific context and the findings are utilised to improve and/or change practice, and to formulate further questions for investigation.
Active citizenship	Programs that assist students to understand and act upon democratic values such as the rule of law, equality under the law, democracy, freedom of opinion and a tolerant, fair and inclusive society. Examples include celebrating Harmony Day, Student Representative Councils, Peer Support programs, students as volunteers and students working to solve real-life community problems. For further information
Active listening	An instructional skill where group members <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> listen to the speaker as if they are walking in their shoes <input type="checkbox"/> listen with all their senses <input type="checkbox"/> let the argument or presentation run its course without interruption <input type="checkbox"/> encourage the speaker's train of thought <input type="checkbox"/> actively respond to questions and directions <input type="checkbox"/> use their body language to show they are listening.
Activity setting	Context in which teaching occurs (home, softball field, classroom, etc.).

Assessment	Assessment is the process of acquiring information and making judgements about students' learning. The purposes of assessment include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> to assist student learning related to outcomes, <input type="checkbox"/> to make judgements about students' achievements, <input type="checkbox"/> to evaluate the effectiveness of teaching programs, and <input type="checkbox"/> to inform decisions about students' future learning. Some people broadly distinguish between formative and summative assessment.
Authentic assessment	Authentic assessment is linked to a teaching and learning program that seeks to provide contextual tasks in a supportive environment so that the learner can be given feedback about their progress.
Backward design	An approach to teaching for understanding in which the understandings of the unit are decided upon first, then used as a basis to determine appropriate assessment methods to demonstrate those understandings, and finally the learning experiences that will be needed to enable students to develop and demonstrate the identified understandings.
Benchmark	A benchmark is a designated standard of performance. It may be described qualitatively or as a location on a measurement scale. The Department uses its Literacy and Numeracy monitoring test results to report to the Commonwealth on the percentage of students achieving National Benchmarks in Years 3 and 5 reading, writing and numeracy. These benchmarks were originally described qualitatively, but they have since been located on measurement scales.
Bias	Bias occurs when the assessment process lacks objectivity, fairness, or impartiality in some way. This may disadvantage or discriminate against an individual or group of students. Bias may take the form of flawed assessment tools, design, procedures, analyses or reporting processes. Unbiased assessment is inclusive and works towards equitable outcomes for all learners.

Bilingual education	Broad term denoting programs for students with limited or no proficiency in the language of instruction (English in the U.S.). Programs generally use students' home language for academic and language arts instruction while students are acquiring proficiency in English for academic purposes. In some programs, home language use is limited to 2 or 3 years and ultimately discontinued; in other programs, home language is used for extended periods with the goal of promoting proficiency in both languages.
Bilingual proficiency	Ability to use 2 or more languages in oral and/or written form; proficiency can vary from beginning to advanced levels and can be at the same level in both languages or at different levels in each language.
Blog	The term blog comes from web log, which is an online personal diary or journal. Blogs are generally available for the public to read and to enter comments about the daily entries or postings. Blog content ranges from personal activity, often on a daily basis, to political, technical, and educational and other special-purpose content.
Bloom's Taxonomy	A tool for categorizing the level of abstraction of questions. Questions are categorized according to six levels: knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis and evaluation.
Brainstorm	An instructional tactic used for group problem-solving that involves the spontaneous contribution of ideas from all members of the group.
Bundling	Uses inductive thinking and is a tactic in which ideas or responses are grouped or 'bundled' into various categories decided upon by the students or participants.
Calibration	Calibration is a process for locating the difficulties of items (and standards) on a measurement scale. In terms of the Essential Learning Outcomes, it involves the calibration of the Standards, investigating their relative difficulty on measurement scales.
Card cluster	A card cluster is an effective way of grouping ideas. Individually or in groups, students write one idea on a card. The cards are grouped to create a visual display.

Carousel sharing	This strategy allows all groups to share at once their group work products. It also gives students in the 'reporting' position a chance to practice their presentation skills several times. Groups display their work on their tables or wall. One or two group members stay with the display to explain the work and answer questions. Groups rotate on around each of the stations viewing and discussing each other's work. This strategy is similar to gallery walk.
Choral/montage poem	A collection of words and/or phrases selected and arranged to create a poem to be performed by a group.
Closed questions	Questions that can be answered with a single word or phrase. For example: How many days are there in a week?
Community of inquiry	'Community of Inquiry' is central to the understanding of Philosophy in Schools. The focus is on listening, thinking, challenging and changing viewpoints within a safe environment in which students can take risks in their thinking. Logic and reasoning underpin ideas as each member of the community challenges the thoughts expressed by others.
Concept attainment	Concept attainment was examined by Jerome Bruner in Beyond the Information Given (1974). It assists us to understand that there are different classes and categories of objects and to identify and recognise how we can distinguish what does and does not belong. For further information on developing the strategy view Bruner's concept attainment.
Fair	A fair assessment is valid reliable and unbiased.
Concept map	Concept maps are tools for organising and representing knowledge. They illustrate concepts and the relationships between them. These links are indicated by words that specify the relationship between two or more concepts. Concepts maps provide a process for students to build their understanding by progressively adding information and increasing the complexity of the links. They can be used for formative and summative assessment.

Concept mapping	Concept mapping is a technique for representing related concepts in visual form. A series of networks and nodes are used to explain the links between different concepts.
Contextualize	to put a word or activity, particularly a new one, into a familiar context.
Criterion referenced assessment	Criterion referenced assessment is the performance of an individual as measured against a standard or previously established criteria rather than against performance of others who take the same test.
Criterion referencing	Criterion referencing is the reporting of performances in terms of specified learning objectives (criteria).
Culminating outcomes	Culminating outcomes describe a small set of valued learning performances linked to each of the Essential Learning . They represent the teaching and learning goals towards which education is working.
Culminating performance	A performance designed to exhibit deep understanding which takes place at the culmination of a unit of work. In The Teaching for Understanding Framework , this can occur as a more complex performance within the unit, giving students a chance to synthesize understandings having completed introductory and guiding performances.
Data retrieval chart	An effective way of sorting information and enabling students to recognize patterns in data. Charts are set up as grids, with headings for each row and column. Headings might take the form of questions, topics or sources of information.
Diagnostic assessment	Diagnostic assessment is a type of formative assessment particularly intended to diagnose areas of weakness, or misunderstanding, and strength.
Discipline	A body of knowledge to which a particular set of principles, key questions and methods of testing assumptions are attributed.
ELL, English language learner	Student whose first language is not English and who either lacks proficiency in English or has beginning level proficiency in English.
Enterprise learning	Enterprise learning involves students in designing, producing and marketing a product or service. Students work with the wider community, business or industry to create or produce something that is tangible and real.

Evaluation	Evaluation is the process of gathering, measuring, interpreting and using information to make educational decisions or judgments. The term 'evaluation' is usually used to describe a reasoned judgment about the effectiveness of a learning sequence or a program.
Exemplar	Exemplars are samples of work that demonstrate the essential characteristics of performance to meet particular standards or criteria. They are frequently used in assessment against rubrics.
Exhibitions	Exhibitions are substantial products or presentations, which are often complex public performances showcasing student learning and competence. They may be judged by an expert panel and can incorporate judgements from a range of sources including learners, peers, educators, parents and others.
First language	A student's first language, generally the language spoken at home.
Fishbone	A particular type of concept map which is often used to demonstrate cause and effect.
Fishbowl	This strategy help focus the attention of students as observers, while others model a process or product. Have some students sit centre-stage (in the 'fishbowl'), while other students observe the action from outside the fishbowl.
Formal assessment	Formal assessment is structured and recorded assessment.
Formative assessment	Formative assessment is used to monitor learning progress during a learning sequence. It provides continuous feedback to teachers and students, which enables them to monitor progress and identify and address errors in learning. Because formative assessment is primarily directed towards improving learning, the results are typically not used for assigning awards.
Forum theatre	A scene is enacted in front of a group. At any time during the drama, observers or actors can stop the performance to ask for assistance or change the focus of the action. Observers may step in and add or take over an existing role.

Funds of knowledge	The intellectual and social knowledge existing in families and communities.
Futures wheel	This is a graphic organizer that places a future event in a circle in the centre of a document. Consequences from this first event are placed in a second ring of circles, then a third, and so on. The futures wheel identifies expanding consequences.
Gallery tour/walk	Select one person to display the item. Select a second person to stay with the display and give a one minute overview while other groups come and listen. After two rotations select another group member to give the overview.
Generative topic	A significant topic, issue, concept or 'big idea' which provides depth and rigour, multiple connections and different perspectives required to support students' development of powerful understandings. A generative topic is typically central to one or more of the disciplines, interesting to both teachers and students, accessible and supports inquiry based approaches to learning.
Graffiti	A cooperative learning strategy that facilitates brainstorming. Graffiti can also be used as a group energizer.
Graphic organiser	A tool which organizes information in visual form. There are many different types of graphic organizers including concept maps, fishbone maps, flow charts, KWLs and timelines.
Guiding question	Questions that aim to develop deep understanding through an inquiry mode of learning. They are open-ended, non-judgmental and provide a relevant inquiry context rather than content as a basis for the construction and selection of learning experiences.
Higher-order thinking	Thinking that occurs at higher levels of abstraction. In Bloom's Taxonomy it indicates thinking that takes place at the analysis, synthesis and evaluation levels.
Hot-seating	A dramatic technique used to deepen understanding. An individual sits in the 'hot seat' and is asked questions which they answer from the point of view of the role they are enacting. For example, they may take / play the role of a character from a book or a movie.

Individual professional learning plan	An individual teacher's plan for organizing and managing their professional learning so it meets individual, school and system needs and priorities.
Inductive thinking	One of the two broad methods of logical reasoning - the other being deductive thinking. Inductive thinking uses a 'bottom up' approach moving from specific observations through to broad generalizations and theories.
Informal assessment	Teachers and students use informal assessment opportunities to make incidental and immediate judgments and provide feedback about student learning. Informal assessment is frequently used for formative assessment purposes.
Integrated units	Integrated units use an approach that is interdisciplinary and uses basic content, processes, pedagogy, assessment strategies and topics of shared interest in authentic and cohesive ways.
Interdependence	A student learning culture needs to move from dependence to independence to interdependence. Students operate interdependently when they understand the need to work together in a community of learners to accomplish tasks.
Inquiry-based learning	An inquiry is a systematic investigation into an idea or issue. Inquiry-based learning encompasses the processes of posing problems, gathering information, thinking creatively about possibilities, making decisions and justifying conclusions.
Inside/outside circle	Inside/outside circles is a tactic that facilitates dialogue and builds community. It involves placing students in two circles, one inside the other, with each student in one circle facing a student in the other. A facilitator asks students to discuss a problem or a question. The student on the outside tells the student on the inside how they would attempt to solve it, then the outside person extends the thinking. The outside student then rotates one to the left or right continuing the discussion or starting a new.
